but lived »

André Malraux

Since 1994, the year of its creation during the siege of Sarajevo and under the emblematic patronage of André Malraux, numerous artists, writers, filmmakers, photographers and translators have supported the Sarajevo André Malraux center and its director, Francis Blueb. Many of them did the trip to express their support, to accompany his intellectual and moral involvement and to honour the presence of French culture in Bosnia.

In 2004, for its 10th anniversary, the Georges Pompidou center gave homage to this place of resistance and encounters. A year earlier, Jean-Luc Godard made it the center of his movie : « Notre musique » and Enki Bilal a character of the « Sommeil du Monstre ». The town of Sarajevo awarded the André Malraux center with the 6th of April Prize (anniversary day of Sarjevo liberation in 1945).

In 2009, for its 15th anniversary, from the 18th of December 2009 to the end of January 2010, the Sarajevo André Malraux center, is organising, under the direction of Laura Serani, a photography exhibition : « Our Story » by Alexandra Boulat, Patrick Chauvel, Enrico Dagnino, Luc Delahaye, Zijah Gafic, Ron Haviv, Milomir Kovacevic, Christopher Morris, James Natchwey, Paulo Nozolino, Emmanuel Ortiz, Gilles Peress, Gérard Rondeau, Damir Sagolj, Klavdij Sluban and Laurent Van der Stockt.

On the 18th of December, Jorge Semprun, president of the Paris-Sarajevo-Europe association, Jean-Marue Laclavetine, vice-president, Francis Bueb, director of the André Malraux center and Agnès b. invit you to celebrate this event, which will be opened by a Rodolphe Burger concert.
